WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND

In our fast-paced modern work environment where organisations are constantly challenged to respond to an ever-evolving business landscape, simply equipping the organisation with the latest digital tools and knowledge is not going to cut it. Improving the organisation's digital competencies is futile if our workforce continue to work in the way that they have always done, and neglect the challenges of a fast-moving business world.

To effectively react to market and environmental changes in prompt, productive and cost-effective ways, we need new ways of working, and Organisational Agility is the key to fast market response. Think of Organisational Agility as the new work culture that you need to have in your organisation.

HR has a twofold interest in Organisational Agility:

- 1. On a team level, HR, which is commonly perceived by employees as being too siloed and adamant on working in cycles (be it annual or quarterly), needs to become more Agile themselves to respond faster to business and employee needs.
- 2. On a strategic and functional level, HR needs to impart the Agile mindset and ways of working to the rest of the workforce, and guide the organisation to transform their culture and ways of working in order to gain a competitive edge in a fast-moving business world.

Led by Isman Tanuri, an Agile Certified Coach (ICAgile - ICP-ACC) with experience in conducting well-received workshops for both global and regional organisations, this two-day HR Masterclass will provide you with a strong working knowledge of fundamental Agile concepts and techniques such as Scrum, Kanban and Lean principles through a series of case studies, interactive discussions and activities. Join us on a journey to make Agile the new "operating system" of your team and company!

Upon successful completion of this training workshop, participants will receive the ICAgile Certified Professional in Business Agility Foundations certification.
